We consider the whole polley in this to be delay, and expensive at that; and so believing, and unwilling to be instrumental therein, having thus briefly noticed the policy of the majority of the Committee, we beg leave to present the following resolutions as a substitute for those submitted by the majority, believing that they present much more presulting results than those we oppose, all of us muting in this protest against the majority report, but each of us reserving the right to present his own views.

Accompanying this, Mr. Hopes, in b half of himself and Mr. Canatsaz, offere the following resolutions, which, varying some respects from any heretolore print ed, we give in full:

Resolved, That we regard the l'uiou be States, nuder the Constitution, as the surest safe-guard and strongest bulwark or regulated liberty ever devised by man, and

As to the assertion that all other petitions have been tead to the House before being referred, I appeal to every member to say if this is not a mistake. Out of the hundreds that have been read it has escaped my memory, and I would appeal to gentlemen to say, if, when they present petitions and have them referred without reading, they regard this action as smothering? I particularly appeal to the member from Mercar, who has presented so many on the same subject, to say whether he has called for the reading of a single one before reference, and whether he considers this course of action is motherling; and I would remind like of the action of the House on this subject but a few days before I presented the petition in question, when the mading of one was asked for, and the whole House responded "Not". I am aware that the young gentleman who corresponds with the Demograf feels a heavy weight of responsibility resting upon his shoulders in this great chargency, and particularly in undertaking to see that members discharge their duties properly, but in this instance I humbly submit that his great zeal has cutrum his discretion; and when my young friend undertakes to direct and control the whole legislation of this State, I fear that he has rather over caped himself. As to his effort to sow discord, dissension, or empiricion between my constituents and thoir representative, I would say that I have lived in that community tor the last fifty-five years to but little purpose, If he sneceeds; and I have received too many evidences of their confidence to fear it; therefore I would recommend to the young gentleman to use his paper for the more innocent management of constructing kites, in preference to useful minimum the content of the con

Now, my Irlends, who are for non-action, let me draw your picture. The day is not distant when final action will be taken on the measures of compromise and final notion leaf. If you leave kere doing nothing to satisfy the public mind that you are prepared to act at the proper time, the other party will likely take the field and production that G. M. Cay had been in your conneits, and had gone to the North as negotiater. The names of other distinguished gentlemen, good chizens, whose ancecedents had been in favor of enancipation, would would be pointed to as having a controlling influence, that the stand-sall policy was a design to hold Kentucky on

Let me, in the name of the people of Kentucky, Implore you not to bring on conflicts so fixial to her best intercets. By this stand-still peller, is there not danger you give tirut hope to the Republicans that you will stand by them under all circumstances under the hallowed name of the titted States, come what may? Then let me appeal to you, in behalf of the cames of the Union, to take some firm ground, irm, yet temperate, that will be sufficient to show Kentucky will insist on her rights and silenit to no less than their acknowledgement and security. My friends, you now hold to some extent the destiny of Kentucky in your bands. Allow me to appeal to you, in the hope that appeal will not be wholly unavailable, to cease to give cause for personal ill-feeling, but wit a steady eye on the future, secure our individual salety by our own united strength. We may have enough to do when we stall have to encounter others. Meet together and agree on some continon plan agreesole to all. yield to popular opinion for the sake of the cause of liberty and humanity, and tender back to them the distinguished honor conare true and loyal, but it must be known when we have a government on which to bestow our loyalty. If the Union be dissolved, there is no government to secrete from. Hevoluthon is resistance to an acknowledged existing government. If the Union is dissolved, then there is no government to resist, and Kentucky is brought to a point when, without fault on her part, she may peaceably choose her associates in another combination of States for a union of strength.

Lassume if the Southern States cannot Lassume if the Southern States cannot

I assume if the Southern States cannot be brought back by their voluntary will, and we have reason to believe they will not, without additional security, it is, I maintain, the only idea on which the flovernment as a whole can be reconstructed. We have presented for our consideration the formation of a Central Confederation of States, on the border North and South of the Union. How can that be effected without admitting a dissolution of the Union. If the Northern States assume that the flovernment still exists, and that they by their mitted action constitute the Union, it would not be consistent with our axowed principles to sednes the border non-slaveholding States from their layalty to their axowed Government to form another. Who supposes that Illinois will take position in the next four years to displace Mr. Lincoln, by disrupting the tiovernment of which he is their acknowledged bend, to form other associations. one to the other, and in that mode arrive at a general conclusion.

If an correct in this, it may be of vital moment to the people of Kentucky to know now their voice is to be heard. An idea seems to prevail that Kentucky has no power to be heard in the mode of Convention unless by a process of six years for completion. If that be true, and there is no other mode, we are indeed in a deplorable condition. We will indeed be at a point of standardil, whose allence will be chaquetee and non-action a returned for all evils. Has your Legislature the power unchoquence and non-action a remedy for all evils. Has your Legislature the power under the Constitution, under the usual grant to legislate, to stipulate where Kentneky shall be placed in the family of States? Can it agree on a Constitution for a general union of States? Can it pass any act which is irrepealable. If it cannot, can you, by any verbal authority in the form of instructions, cularge their powers? These are suggestions which I throw out for consideration.

By the expressed opinion of our wisest

I am then asked what authority have you or a l'ouvention la any contingency other han that providing a specific thode by its own terms. I might ask by what authorits it you would call a Convention to railly proposed amendments to the Constitu-in of the United States. The Constitution of the United States. The Constitu-tion and Universe do not confer the author-ity, but direct or selved the mode, and looks to State authority for the authority, mode and manner of carrying it into effect. It must be remembered that there exists no difficulty about the State Convention. No one proposes to touch that, and it has serted that auch Convention would have no legitimate authority to touch it, nor served that such Convention would have no legitimate authority to tone it, nor would a Convention to ratify amendments. We have two Governments: one State, that is perfect and as we want it; the other, I colored the such as the such a

But, to render more clearly my idea by the clause in the Constitution, it is required that smeathern are to be made on application of two thirds of Congress, or of: application of two thirds of Congress, or of: application of two thirds of the States, and in either case shall not be valid as amendments without a concurrence of three-fourths of the States. And you cannot raify an amendment: National Convention. So I insist, if the Government is brought to a point where the cannot, by its own organic terms, perpetuate itself, or has lost one of its vital principles of the bond of Union, and cannot and an additional convention of Union, and cannot get restrained to the bond of Union, and cannot get restrained to the point where the work of reconstruction must hegen on a basis which will secure all the rights for 2hiele we are contending. We have said we work of reconstruction must hegen on a basis which will secure all the rights for 2hiele we are contending. We have said we work of reconstruction must he got with a conditional still in existence, with a conditional still in existence, with a conditional still in existence, with a conditional of the case, if we persist in the appointed mode, it is time for action. But It in that I am numbers of a while, I have an opinion if there shall exist be two governments, and there should, in the course of human affires, be a wove among breign nations, or any foreign power, threatening on our own destiny, it would be an easier matter to unite two these many for common defense.

All this I would have seenred by treaty by reason and interest, and have a sense of self-protection.

I have thought if it did come, Kentucky in a few years might be substituted for New England in the great industrial pursuit in the various branches of mannicutures. She has coal, iron, and lumber. She has pastures and a capacity to grow woolto any extent. She is but aday's travel from the cotton fields. She has water power on the Kentucky and breen rivers not inferior to any in the world. She may secure the waste water of your canal. One single lock and dam at the confunction of the three forks of the Kentucky river would bring to that point the ernde material by thousands. See can and does produce everything, everything and coifee, necessary to anbistence. Why may not such resources be brought into active as? A little over a year ago John Brown fitted out in Canada and Ohio a murderous raid litto Virginia, the object of which was to excite the ungro slaves to revolt, massere the white inhabitants, lay the country desolate, and make the Old Dominien a second flayt. He took with him a large number of pikes for the negroes to use in their nutrderous on-slaught, and commenced operations by acting upon the Government Arsensi in Harper's Ferry, which had a general supply of ammunition. His band, as one of the first acts of fredstory war, visited at midnight the house of Colome! The State Convention-Let it be Called.

The Legislature should promptly carry out the wise and partiolic recommendation of the Governor, in favor of a Constitutional Convention in Keutneky. Thereshould be no opposition to this in either branch of that body, and we sincerely trust that the little objection which exists to it in other quarters, may speedily sease. Congress, notwithstanding the notice efforts made by a few of the wisest and best men in both Houses, has shown itself interly important to do anything effectually to avertice impending evils, or even to allay excitement in any quarter of the Union. The State governments are poweriess. The machinery of political parties, and party action, are worse than useless. But behind all these, there exists with the people in their sovereign capacity, a power action, are worse than useiess. But nople in their sovereign capacity, a power

deut of the Cincinnati Enquirer, relates the following:

I asked a leading Republican lately what they would do for a rallying cry, should a separation of the Slave from the Free States occur without a civil war, and the North be thereby without the slavery lasse? He replied: "We will get after that other abomination, the Catholic Church, and drive It out. We shall then have a Free and Protestant North. Aud," he added, "the religious sentiment will be more powerful than is that against slavery. We shall not want an excitable issue, after that of slavery shall have passed away." Such is to be the programme of the Republican lucendiarles. They war upon slavery to obtain power, and court dissolution and slvil war as a means of giving them the great governmental means and appliances of controlling elections, so as to perpetuate their power; and, when dissolution and war shall have lost their excitement, then stir up religious fends and excitements, and drive the Catholics out of the country. the following:

contact the Austrian Empire, and more than three three as large as the elx North-ern New England States, which contain but 57.014 square miles. OFR ANCIENT ALLIES.-11 Is the pro-boast of the Catawha Indiana, in many respects one of the noblest tribus of the Aborigines, that they have ever been the friends of the white men. The history of Carolina coutiums the assertion, and gives been a distinction which they share with few of the tribus and nations of the Indians. We have a striking and effecting proo of the same spirit in an offer which reached Gavernor Pickens on Wednesday from John Scott, the Chief of the Catawbas remaining in South Carolina. The services of all the fighting men of this glorious remains are offered to Governor Pickens for "defence of the State, in any manner he may employ them."

har "defence of the State, in any manner he may employ then."

An offer of a thousand fold force from any other quarter would not have been more welcome than this instinctive tribute of a prond and noble race, whose ancestors often sided South Carolina in her honr of need, and whom foreign gold and influence could not detach from their filends.—[Charleston Courler.] The New York Herald says that the Of this number 7,826 are blacks, and 31. Of this number 7,826 are blacks, and continued the same and the same and the same and the same are in 1850, the decrease helps the same are in 1850, the dec the same re in 1860, the useres almost whelly among the blacks.

Charlestox, Jan. 29.—The Legislature to-day unanimously resolved that, while asknowledging the courtesy of the Virginia Legislature in sending accommission, they decline having any Interview on the subject proposed, regarding the separation as find and irrevocable.

The correspondence of Messrs, Hayne and Pickens, while the former was at Washington, was considered in Executive cession. It appears that the ultimatum of South Carolina was the surrender of Fort Sunter and the withdrawal of the Federal troops; that South Carolina promised to pay for the forts, and that hayne, in obediance to the wishes of Southern Congressmen, withheld the proposition. Gov. Pickens now tells Hayne to make a formal demand for the forts, repudiating the President's position, that he has not power to give them no, but must leave he to Congress. Pickens turther tells Hayne to wait a reasonable time for an unswer to the fluid demand; then, if refused, the fort must be taken. The Legislature Indores the action. Commander John S. The Woodford not the great Atlan-tic Innesday night at lake Providence— she was getting along finely, and would probably reach New Orleans Saturday evening. She was advertised to leave New Orleans Monday last.

The Autocrat, from New Orleans, as at Memphis Monday. The Baltic, for New Orleans, year day received a heavy freight, including 1,000 bbis of pork, and 179 casks bacon. The Woodford has 500 sheep and 80 ead of fat harves for New Orleans, where rices just now rule high. The Mariner having been detailed completing her eargo, starts to Memphis direct this afternoon at 3 o'clock. She is at the city wharf in charge of the galbant Archer, who will provide comfortably terpassengers. She is the regular packet, and goes through without any unnecessary delay.

The Henderson packet this evening the musical treey lagic. She starts from the Portland wharf, in charge of Capt. Don elly, and connects at Evansville with the cen riverand Cairopackets

The light-winged Dove is the peace-all messenger to-day for all points along the Kentucky river, as far as Frankfort. The swift Telegraph No. 3, Cald, it foreth, is the mail and passenger packet or the East at noon to-day. The Mississippi at St. Louis and all apper ports continues blocked by the North in blasts, and the underwriters have not yet withdrawn their embargo. Mr. HARRIS, of Md., spake of the glaries of the country, and said the disaster now pending spring from the empty in valries of political parties, and the inshifted from the states of political parties, and the inshifted from the states of the Territories in regard to stavery. The verdict of imparitat histor-will he, that there was no cause to accession, and none for a disruption of in Union. He believed that the responsibility of the national satety or perdition rester upon the present representatives of the people now assembled in Congress. The question now is upon whom shall the terrible responsibility rests and that will fail on the act of men who will not spurm men party transmels and come up to the question, how a great nation can be saved from the act of men who will not spurm men party transmels and come up to the question, how a great not only the fail of the ambitious desires of politicians at the South, who want a greate prominence than they can command under our present system. He repeated that secession is the unholy offspring of Southern political ambition, and far to anneh of the aggravation which roused the resistance of the North. He appeaded the North if there was not too unach aggravation on their part and by their representatives. Both rections are responsible for these troubles. The accession of sof Southern States met with no sympathy if Maryland.

Mr. HUGHES denied that Mr. Harrispoke for that part of Maryland he representatives for that part of Maryland he representatives are responsible for the part of Maryland he representatives.
